New York Dry Goods NEW YORK, July 20. The dry goods market has not developed any important change since the last report-ed upon. Business with package houses has been moderately active, though some-what regular and there was a good steady movement in many of the most staple cot ton and woolen fabrics on account of previous orders There is no great rush for fall goods as yet and many buyers are no doubt waiting for a more general opening of prints, ginghams, dress goods, etc., be-fore making up their assortment for the coming season.
